

Locals suit up to battle virus and keep city safe

To win the battle against COVID-19, volunteers in Jiading District wear medical protective suits and work on the front lines day and night, making critical contributions to preventing and controlling the virus. Two expats, Douwe Schurer and Adam Mcilmoyle, also work as volunteers to tackle the virus in their neighborhoods. Photographers Jin Xiaohui, Yang Yujie and Yu Chao documented people's hard work to help safeguard their communities.

